The 1965 ONTAROGA

Nineteen sixty-five . . . What is it? To the students of Lees-McRae it is more than just a year - more than a mere passage of time. It's the past to be held in our minds and remembered in the future. To us it has been many things - study, fun, worry and responsibility. We are ready, now, to put these experiences to use, to answer the challenge of the present, while we are here and when we leave.

This edition of the ONTAROGA is going to tell the story of the year 1964-65. We hope to record for you in pictures and prose the year 1964-65 at,

"WE CREATE IN OURSELVES WHAT MONUMENTS LAST . . ."

Many hours are spent in the Lab in preparation for class assignments.

A familiar banner in front of the Chaffee Center reads "Welcome to Lees-McRae, The Campus in the Clouds".

Beech Mountain rises majestically above the Banner Elk Community. This scene was taken from highway 184 overlooking the Banner Elk valley with Beech Mountain in the Background.

WE BECOME A PART OF THE FUTURE OF LMC . . . AND THE PAST

College Choir performs for Christmas Program. The LMC College Choir, under the direction of Mr. Andrew Brown, perform at the Christmas Vespers Program for the student body.

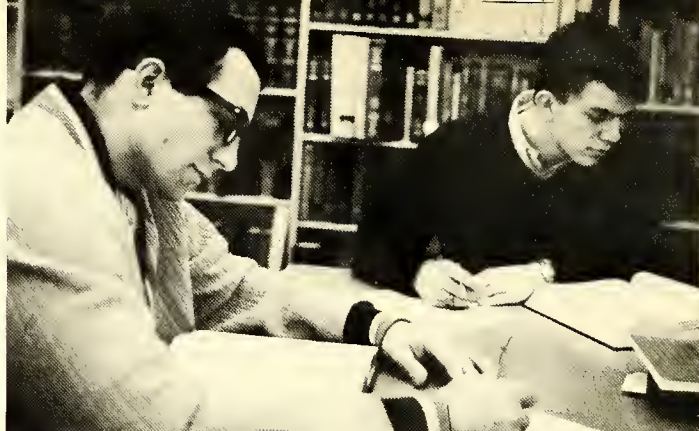

O.T. Carnival offers fun and excitement and affords the students a break in the routine of classes, labs, and study. Here students participate in the penny-pitching booth.

The smell of formaldehyde and the sight of a dead shark do not discourage anatomy students Fetzer and Lansdale.

Long hours are spent in the library in preparation for class.

The 1965 ONTAROGA offers a written tribute to a monument of history and time -- a year. It was a year of social life, activities, learning, and people. It was a year characterized by happiness and sadness, success and failure, athletics and studies, disappointments and worry. The people, however, made the year -- the bright-eyed, eager freshmen and the confident sophomores. These two classes together were Lees-McRae and offered the foundations for the year and brought it to a close -- a year in the past.

There is a unity -- a oneness among the students at Lees-McRae. This unity is easily seen in the spontaneous expressions of spiritual, social, and educational activities of the campus life.

Lees-McRae is one school -- one student body composed of unique and original individuals, each possessing his own distinctive characteristics, achieving his own rewards, and expressing his own thoughts. Yet, there is at Lees-McRae a harmony of purpose to acquire, to learn, to prepare to meet the challenges of the role of adulthood.

The students are many, constantly shifting and dividing through varied classes, clubs, and curriculum. They are freshmen and sophomores, each absorbed in his own little world, in the subjects he studies, and in the people he meets.

What of the "oneness" and the spirit of Lees-McRae? It has made each ready for future and placed him in the threshold of life prepared.

MOVEMENT . . . ACTIVITY IN HALLS, AND BUILD

Students await the arrival of the band at the Christmas dance. The band showed up at 10:30.

The spring formal, the May Day Dance, climaxes a year of festivity and dances. Soon after the May Day activities final exams roll around and the curtain falls on another year at LMC.

The big moment arrives . . . The culmination of many hours, days, and months of hard work . . . The ending before the beginning of a new way of life apart from Lees-McRae.

INGS, FROM THE COURTS, THE STAGE, THE CAMPUS . . . EXPRESSIONS OF THE STUDENTS

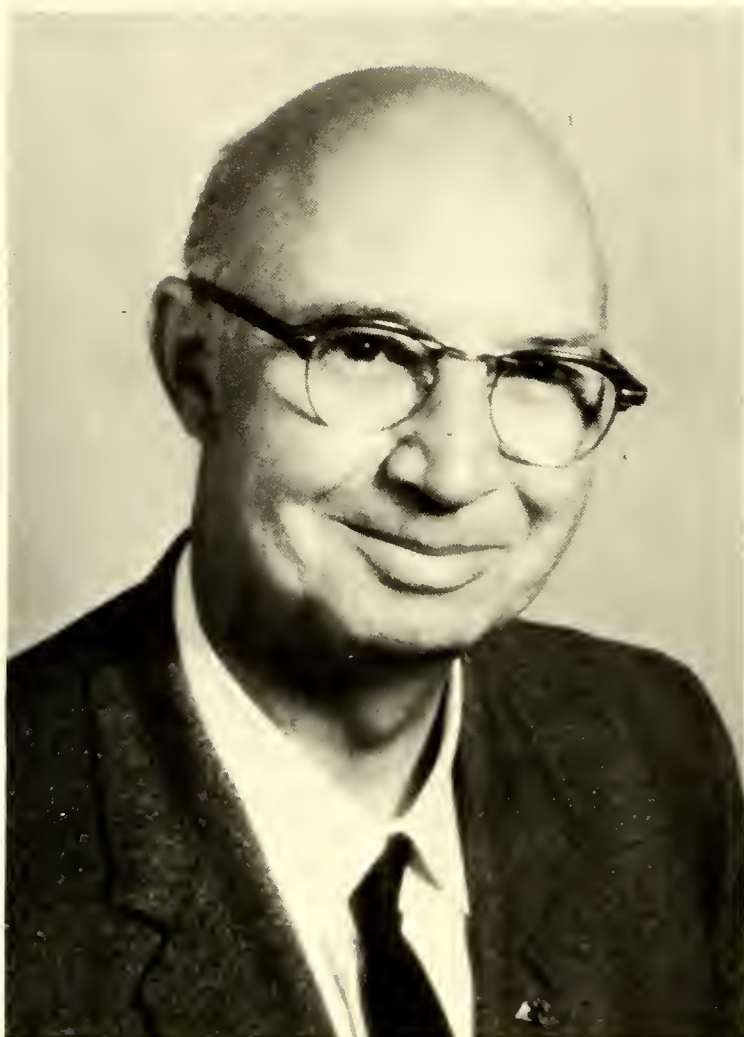

The changing of classes, the ringing of bells, the brief chats in the hallways -- these are all part of the daily routine.

The excitement of a ball game victory and defeat -- part of a way of life at Lees-McRae.

J. B. Pritchett
Instructor, Biology

Mr. Pritchett, a graduate of Duke University, began work at Grace Hospital, Banner Elk, May 15, 1933, in the Laboratory, and taught chemistry to the student nurses. He taught Biology at Lees-McRae College from 1938 to 1948, while maintaining the hospital laboratory. He became full-time instructor at the college in 1955. He became Chairman of the Division of Science at Lees-McRae in 1964. He is a charter member of the N. C. Society of Bacteriologists and member of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

A radiating smile, a willingness to listen, a keen insight into human affairs, an understanding nature, and always a desire to help -- these are some of the admirable qualities that belong to this faculty member.

We, with warm regard, dedicate "The 1965 ONTAROGA" to

DEDICATION

ADMINISTRATION and FACULTY

Lees-McRae College believes that the highest education is Christian. Offering educational opportunity in a Christian environment, its faculty strives to give meaning to its belief that Christian ideals and a trained intelligence are essentials for abundant living. The determination of Lees-McRae is that students shall leave this "Campus in the Clouds" with minds agile enough to use and with character strong enough to hold. Though instruction is the primary concern of the faculty of Lees-McRae, each faculty member finds time to be a friend to his students, to show concern and give assistance to each person as an individual, and to provide an inspiring example to follow. In this way, Lees-McRae meets the challenge of providing leadership for its students.

Six new faculty members joined the Lees-McRae faculty: Robert M. Arn, History; Mrs. Marie Hicks, Biology; D. Edward Renegar and Robert G. Newman, Bible; Charles Ramsey, Physics; and Clyde Crump, Social Studies. Mr. Royce Shingleton joined the Student Services Department as Dean of Men.

A well qualified faculty of thirty-one members, along with the administration, devote their time and talents to the students, both in classes and in personal conferences.

Aside from his social duties, Col. Chapman (Below) congratulates Quarterback Freddie Walton on his All-American Award.

Extremely civic-minded, Col. Chapman presents a check to Mayor Robert Guy on behalf of the college. The money will pay half toward a development program for the Banner Elk community.

Colonel Max C. Chapman
President, Lees-McRae College

OUR PRESIDENT

Colonel Chapman assumed the duties as president in August of 1961. Colonel Chapman, the winner of the Legion of Merit and Bronze Star Medals, came to Lees-McRae from Washington after he retired as assistant to the Director of Naval Intelligence for Marine Corps matters. Colonel Chapman, a graduate of Clemson College, also attended the Marine Corps Command and staff School and the British Imperial Defense College of London, England.

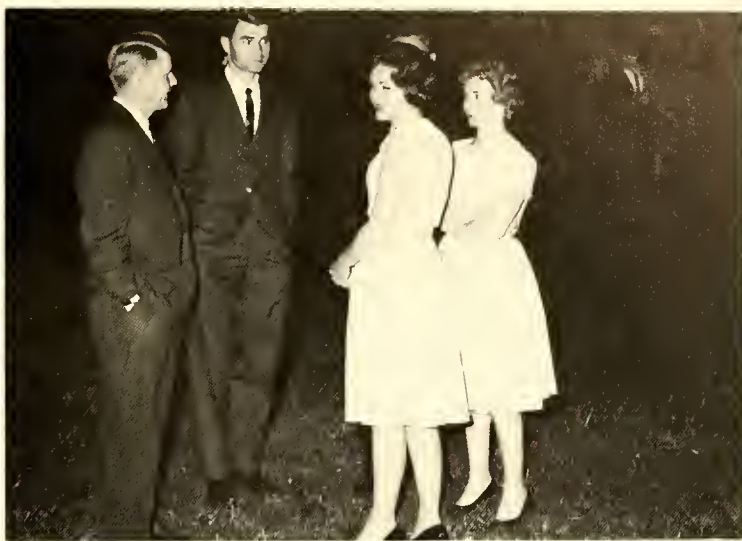

The climax of a busy and eventful year is illustrated as Col. Chapman presents the diplomas to the LMC graduates during graduation exercises.

Colonel Chapman talks with students on one of the many social occasions that he and Mrs. Chapman sponsor. Both Mr. and Mrs. Chapman take time from their busy schedules to entertain students, faculty, dignitaries, and members of the community in their home.

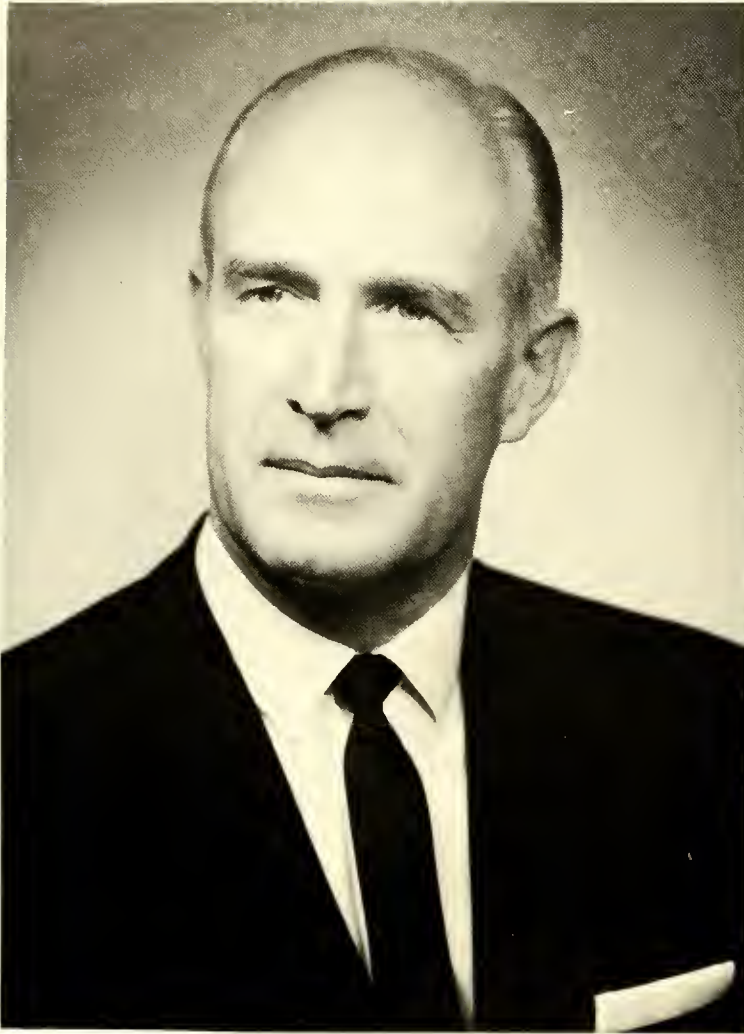

Through Col. Chapman's tireless effort, the college has witnessed rapid growth and progress. He has been instrumental in making changes beneficial to the college and its students during his term as president. Many renovations and improvements to the present facilities have taken place as well as new faculty homes, a new science building, and a new faculty apartment building have been completed. At the present time a four-story men's dormitory is under construction. Colonel Chapman has labored diligently to improve campus facilities and has provided guidance to the young people that attend Lees-McRae College.

Colonel Chapman and Vesper Speaker, Dr. Robert E. Lee pause before program for a brief chat.

Colonel Chapman accepts a grant of $500.00 from local Sears-Roebuck Representative, David F. Marsh of Boone. Colonel Chapman upon accepting the grant, stated, "Lees-McRae is very grateful to Sears-Roebuck Foundation for its interest and support. We are indeed fortunate that leading corporations, such as the Sears-Roebuck Company, recognize the importance of higher education and are willing to provide assistance to further improve private colleges throughout the nation."

ADMINISTRATION

Lees-McRae College was filled to an overflow capacity when classes began on September 16th.

The College, nicknamed more than a decade ago by a "Reader's Digest" writer "the campus in the clouds," had an enrollment unprecedented in its thirty-four-year history. "Over 522 students started classes for the fall semester. We have over 200 returning sophomores and over 300 freshmen, the largest freshman class in the history of the school," Mr. Leroy McCaskey, director of Admissions and Student Services announced at the opening faculty meeting.

The 522 students were 300 men and 222 women, some of them residents of states as distant as Connecticut and Florida. The student body continues to grow: in 1960, 325 students enrolled; in 1961, 378 students enrolled; in 1962, 403 students enrolled; in 1963, 440 students enrolled; and now there is a record enrollment of 522.

Friendliness is a keynote trait of the small campus of Lees-McRae where the compact arrangement of dorms, classrooms, and faculty homes brings about a close and cordial relationship between students and faculty.

Under the guidance of Mr. Lewis Hall, Academic Dean, the faculty offers sound and competent instruction to LMC students. To its liberal arts graduates the college awards the student an introductory foundation in liberal arts and permits emphasis on any one of the sciences, the social studies, or the humanities.

There are preparatory studies for those who major in religion, medicine, dentistry, education, engineering, forestry, agriculture, law, business administration, nursing, or medical records. These programs are planned for those who continue their education at a senior college. Some 60 percent of Lees-McRae graduates continue their education.

A course of terminal study is provided for those who plan a career as secretary, engineering aide, medical librarian, X-ray technician, medical secretary, or medical record librarian. In the medical specializations, study at Lees-McRae is followed by internship in hospitals throughout the Southeast.

Expenses at Lees-McRae compare favorably with those at other private colleges in the state. Mr. Charles McKinney has the difficult task of supervising the business affairs and management of the Business Office.

Under capable leadership in the administration, and through a competent faculty, Lees-McRae sets as its goal improved junior college status.

The Chance to Question . . . The Desire to Excel . . . In Shaping our Attitudes and Values the Faculty Helped Us Lay the Groundwork for our New Way of Life.

The character and reputation of a college, its standing in the educational world, the measure of its influence on those who live and study on its campus are determined in large measure by the dedication and devotion of its faculty. For us, as for many generations of Lees-McRae students, this spirit and quality of dedication and devotion are most fully expressed in our administration, staff, and faculty of 1964-65.

Added to the physical growth of the campus is the intellectual growth of each individual. New ideas are received, some conflicting with old standards, some upholding previous knowledge. No longer is our mental world bound by the small area of our home environment, but we encounter new ideas to stimulate new growth and expansion. Our academic world is involved in a new era of maturation through contact with intellectual stimulus.

Lees-McRae provides sound academic curricula within the plan of a junior college for the purpose of developing Christian leadership. A college education should involve four elements -- development of moral integrity; a liberal education to give a richer life, broader understanding, and to bring citizenship into proper perspective; acquisition of technical knowledge for professional leadership; development of physical fitness. Lees-McRae tries to provide all four, with interest in students as individuals -- not merely so many minds to educate.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

The sophomores returned to the "Campus in the Clouds" to assist in registration and orientation of the freshmen. After the few hectic days of the opening of school, they settled down to the routine of classes, labs, and studies. They elected Wayne Hall of Draper, N. C. as class President, Mike McKeever of Strasburg, Va. as Vice-President, and Donna Button and Ann Jewel, both of Charlotte, N. C. as Secretary and Treasurer.

Wayne Hall, President

Many moods make the sophomore's year. Happiness, confidence, anticipation, and melancholy-- these are the sophomore. He has sampled all Lees-McRae has to offer and has the happiness of all the people, places, and knowledge. He has the confidence from his two years of experience at Lees-McRae. He anticipates the future -- all his hopes are nearer the time of realization. Melancholy is reflected in him too; all the pressures of the changing, outside world are suddenly upon him. Lees-McRae will always be a part of his memories-- a monument in his life.

Mike McKeever, Vice-President

Donna Button, Secretary

Ann Jewel, Treasurer

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

In early September Lees-McRae's largest freshmen class arrived on campus. New friends, registration, Rat Week, orientation, adjustments -- these were all part of the freshman's new life.

Larry Ellison, President

The freshmen experienced mixed emotions of excitement and homesickness, joys and disappointments. The Class of 1966 brought a new surge of vigor and school spirit to the Lees-McRae campus.

The freshmen class elected Larry Ellison as class President. The other officers were John Stewart, Vice-President; Beth Amos, Secretary; and Gail Evans, Treasurer.

Sullivanian and Demosthenean initiations provide night of laughter for students.

Campus leaders Maffitt, Prevette, and Heasley do not look the part in this candid.

Perhaps one of the first things any student would tell you about what he learned at college is the fact that scholastic training plays at times a very minor role. Life demands far more than intellectual achievement; it demands social and spiritual maturity as well as the development of physical abilities. These depend upon individual striving and achievement, and add much to the everyday enjoyment of life. New developments come through ever-broadening minds and lives. To the Lees-McRae College student, as to any other college student, the part that activities play in his college life is extremely important.

ACTIVITIES . . .

Activities aid in the building of stronger personalities, higher ideals, and life-time friendships. When the student leaves his books, he turns to fellowship with the other students of the campus. He finds cooperation, competition, and devotion in the clubs and organizations on campus. The individual student benefits the club, while the club benefits the student. In both cases the student and the club have an opportunity to grow.

Sullivanian President Pegge Kowalski talks with Demosthenean President Clay Mauldin and Sullivanian sponsor Mrs. Shingleton. The Sullivanians and the Demostheneans co-sponsored the Christmas Dance.

ASSOCIATED STUDENT BODY

Guided by Miss Eleanor Osborne, the Student Parliament maintained LMC's tradition of efficient student government. The purpose of the A.S.B. is to unify the student body in the common motive of self-government, to stimulate the traditions of the college, and to strengthen co-operation among students, faculty, and administration.

The year's projects included participation in the orientation program, promotion of Rat Week, bus trips to away football and basketball games, and a study of means by which to improve the academic atmosphere on campus.

Under the leadership of Darrell Baker, A.S.B. President, the student parliament has sought to lead the student body in maintaining a well-rounded scope of activities. They prepared and distributed a student directory which contained every student's name, address, and telephone number as well as information about each of the clubs and organizations on campus. Through its committees, the student body assisted in many varied ways to make the academic year a successful one. It made possible many types of social events and programs, without which the year would have been incomplete.

ORDER OF THE TOWER

One of the most outstanding service organizations at Lees-McRae College is the Order of the Tower. The primary purpose of the Order of the Tower is to serve Lees-McRae and the administration in a leadership capacity and to promote the general welfare of the college.

The members of the Club assist in orientation, serve as marshals for special programs and graduation, and serve as hosts for visiting groups and dignitaries. The last service rendered by each year's outgoing members is the direction of the Awards Night program. The annual Halloween Carnival, sponsored by the Order of the Tower, provides a money-making project for the Club as well as for other clubs on campus.

The club promotes good relations in all areas and serves as an advisory body to the faculty.

PHI THETA KAPPA

Members of the Phi Theta Kappa, students with a 2.0 average, are selected on the basis of character, scholarship, and leadership. Inductees are chosen during the last semester of their freshman year, or during their sophomore year.

Sponsored by Dean Hall, the Beta Tau Chapter is a member in good standing with the Phi Theta Kappa, a national scholastic fraternity for junior colleges. It corresponds to Phi Beta Kappa in senior college.

The club helped co-sponsor the Christmas Dance and gave an informal reception for Dean's List students. A service project of the Phi Theta Kappa includes a scholarship to a deserving, rising sophomore.

CHRISTIAN COUNCIL

The Christian Council, under the leadership of Reverend Robert Newman, plans and directs the religious activities at Lees-McRae. This organization serves as the core of the Student Christian Association and strives to promote a better spiritual atmosphere on campus.

The Christian Council, acting as spiritual conscience, stimulates Christian thought, study, and service within the student body, challenging each member to understand and commit himself to the way of Christ.

To promote a more active Christian fellowship, the Council encourages student participation in worship services, service projects, and community relationships.

"The student Christian Association includes all students and functions through an elected Council which plans and co-ordinates activities for everyone. All students attend Sunday evening Vespers twice a month when outstanding ministers from all over the South visit the campus. On alternate Sundays, Vespers includes a variety of informal, discussion-type worship experiences. Midweek worship is every Wednesday morning at 10:00. Opportunities for recreation and service round out this largely student-led program.

With a resident enrollment of around 500 the Student Christian Association provides opportunities for the campus community as a whole to gather together in recognition and promotion of our common faith.

Another focal point acknowledges the different denominational traditions. Although a plurality of Presbyterian students enroll in Lees-McRae, Baptist, Methodist, Episcopalian, Lutheran, Roman Catholic, and several other churches are represented on campus. The Westminster Fellowship, the Episcopal Lutheran Fellowship, the Baptist-Lutheran Club, and the Newman Club foster their respective Christian emphasis and provide a stimulating interchange for the community as a whole.

Thus, a dialogue between common cause and diversity of interpretation characterizes Lees-McRae as sound academic curricula presented in a context which is seeking to understand and to express the implications which arise out of the event of Jesus Christ." -- Robert G. Newman

LMC CHOIR

The LMC Choir, under the most capable direction of Mr. Andrew Brown, strives to present enjoyable musical programs for all.

Membership in the LMC Choir is open to any student on an audition basis held during the first two weeks of the fall semester. For special occasions such as Christmas and Easter, outstanding soloists are chosen from the four main groups of the vocal section.

The group made various appearances throughout the year. Numbered among their most successful performances were the Christmas Concert, the program for the Methodist Church, the Vespers programs, and the Spring tour programs. The LMC Choir is one of the most enjoyable organizations on campus.

WOMAN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

With emphasis on healthful exercise and enjoyment, the Woman's Athletic Association provides girls at Lees-McRae with relaxation and fun. Any girl who participates in three intramurals is eligible for membership. Variety was the keynote in W.A.A. activities for the past year. Members participated in basketball, volleyball, tennis and ping pong tournaments. The girls learned skills in their favorite sports as well as valuable lessons in sportsmanship and team co-operation.

For their money-making project the girls sold yellow mums for the Homecoming game. They also provided the students and sports fans with football programs. Highlighting the Club's activities were the May Day festivities. Each year a Citizenship Award is given by the Club to a student who is outstanding in capacity of good citizenship.

MONOGRAM CLUB

The Monogram Club was organized for all male students who earned a varsity letter in football, track, tennis, cross-country, basketball, or baseball.

The club, sponsored by Coach Ron Whittaker, places special emphasis on the development of sportsmanship, character, and physical fitness. It strives to maintain a good impression while playing at other institutions and to entertain visiting teams courteously.

The Monogram Club maintained the concession stands this year at all varsity athletic events. They supervised and maintained the billiard tables in the student center.

With the leadership of second semester president Robbie Clemmer, the Monogram Club co-sponsored the May Day Dance with the Woman's Athletic Association. The Monogram Club gives trophies to outstanding athletes in each major collegiate sport.

SULLIVANIAN SORORITY

To be invited into membership in the Sullivanian Sorority, a girl must have maintained an over-all C average and must have exhibited leadership and high moral character. The sorority, named in honor of Mary Mildred Sullivan, has as its motto the phrase, "A clear eye, a ready hand, and a pure heart."

The club sponsored many activities: an informal tea for freshman girls, the Valentine Dance, presentation of scholarships to rising sophomore girls, assisted in orientation and co-sponsored the Christmas Dance.

DEMOSTHENEANS

The Demosthenean Club was originally founded in 1932, as a Debate Club. Down through the years, however, it has developed into a men's leadership organization.

Maintaining a C average and possessing leadership in some phase of collegiate activity, whether scholastic, athletic, social, or religious, qualifies a boy for membership in the Demostheneans. Initiations into the club occur twice a year. The 1964 fall induction was climaxed by a dinner in the Pinnacle Inn. The club also co-sponsored the Christmas Dance. Annual scholarships are awarded to outstanding rising sophomore men at the end of the college year.

The Club encourages the young men to participate in all collegiate activities and recognized those who attain high standards in their individual fields.

BOBCAT TALES

Published monthly by the students of Lees-McRae, THE BOBCAT TALES covers school events in news articles, features, and editorials. The newspaper, under the direction of Miss Eleanor Osborne, has given interested students training in management, advertising, and journalism. Through the efforts of the Editor Steve Schmutz and the advisor, THE BOBCAT TALES has maintained high publication standards and has attempted to establish a good journalistic style at Lees-McRae.

DELTA PSI OMEGA

The Delta Psi Omega is a national honorary dramatic fraternity and is a recognized division of Alpha Psi Omega the dramatic fraternity for four year colleges and universities. The purpose of this fraternity is to stimulate interest in dramatic activities at Lees-McRae College and to serve as a reward for worthy students who have shown special interest and aptitude in dramatics. In the fall, the Delta Psi Omega presented "Submerged," directed by Dottie Maynard. The all male cast included Richard Daniels, John Marston, Gerard Elliott, Larry Ellison, George Johns, and J. D. The Administration appointed Darrell Baker, Stanley Clark, Gary Crouse, Arnold Freeman, John Jessen, Mac Lentz, Phil Mauney, Bradley McNeil, Ray Newton, and Paul Richardson to the Senior Resident Program. These men played a vital role in the dorm life on campus and held a position of high responsibility.

Contrast is the keynote of comparison of a broad dance program at Lees-McRae College. This contrast embraces not only occasion and attire, music and decor, but extends into the very mood of the affair. Almost anything is a potential occasion for a dance, from the big campus events of Homecoming and May Day to the dances after athletic events. In between are such affairs as the Sadie Hawkins Day dance, the Christmas Dance, the Valentine Dance, and the Halloween Carnival Dance.

FEATURES

Just as a special occasion for a dance determines the dress of those attending, it influences the kind of music provided for the affair. Organizations and club groups sponsoring the dances take charge of providing appropriate decorations, which fit the themes. All combine to create the most important ingredient . . . mood.

HOMECOMING QUEEN

Homecoming has many traditions, but each year's festivities have a nature all their own. This year the Class of '39 celebrated its 25th anniversary. Each class was represented as the Alumni returned to the "Campus in the Clouds." Harold Ferguson's Band played pop songs from the years 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954, and 1959, as the classes celebrated their anniversaries. For weeks campus groups had been preparing for the numerous activities. As plans materialized and projects took shape, the tension increased.

Tate Dormitory and McAlister Hall won the prizes for decorations.

HOMECOMING COURT

Mary Hartley, sponsored by the W.A.A., emerged triumphant from a field of five candidates. Sandy Williams, Mary Maffitt, Mary Jane Wood, and Ann Jewel, the remaining four, comprised a gracious and lovely court. The Queen was crowned by the grid-iron captains Steve Tate and Freddy Walton. The dance climaxed an exciting week of festivities and made this Homecoming one that will not be forgotten.

ATHLETICS

Walt McMillan goes high in the air to snare rebound.

Lees-McRae regular season winners, with a 9-3 conference record, met their old nemesis the Gardner-Webb Bulldogs in tournament play. Gardner-Webb defeated Lees-McRae twice during the regular season and handed the Bobcats a 73-63 defeat in the tournament finals. It was the first time in a decade, however, that Lees-McRae had advanced to the finals and taken a second place trophy. It was also ten years ago that the Bobcats won the Western Carolinas Junior College Conference Championship. Below left, Earnhardt drives in for lay-up during tournament action. Teammates Chenevey (42), and Sills (44) look on. Sills (Center) shoots a jump shot as Gardner (40) moves in for rebound position. Below right, Earnhardt fires again as Cox (54) and Harr (4), move in for the rebound.

Second Team NJCAA All-American

Walton, Maliska, Heasley, Droke, and Tate were selected to the Region Ten All Conference Team and the All WCJCAC Squad. Fred Walton surpassed the school passing record set by Johnny Phipps in 1955. The Sensational Quarterback from Kingsport completed 83 out of 176 passes for 1368 yds. and scored 15 touchdowns. He rushed for 240 yds. in 80 attempts. Chris Maliska from Winter Park, Florida, was the leading scorer for the Bobcats with 54 points. He broke all school records with 35 catches for 697 yds. and 9 TD's. Lees-McRae completed a very dismal season with a 3-6 record. The brightest spots of the season were in the passing game that saw Freddy Walton and Chris Maliska break the existing school records, and in the pass defense department where a tough secondary, headed by Arnold Freeman, Jim McGowan, and Gary Chenevey gave up only 367 yds. passing to the opposition and allowed opponents only 37 completions out of 110 attempts. The Bobcats got off to a good start by defeating conference powers Chowan and Gardner-Webb 19-7 and 20-7. They won their Homecoming game against Davidson Frosh 26-14. They lost to the VPI Frosh 25-18 and to the Furman Frosh 14-13. These defeats seemed to demoralize the Bobcats and coupled with injuries to key players, the 'Cats suffered defeats at the hands of Gardner-Webb, 14-0; Emory and Henry JV, 16-7; Chowan, 33-26; and Ferrum 13-0. Walton, Droke, Maliska, and Frank Wright received a berth on the Sportswriters' All-Region Ten Team. Walton was honored by his team by being voted the Most Valuable and he also won Back of the Year recognition in Region Ten. The Bobcats, despite their record, gave a good account of themselves in conference play and can be justly proud of their performances.

The Lees-McRae Bobcats won 12 out of their last 14 games during the second half of the season and captured the WCJC Conference regular season championship for the first time in ten years. The Bobcats posted a 9-3 conference mark to take the Conference crown for the first time in the past decade.

INTRAMURALS

Intramural sports provide Lees-McRae students with an opportunity to participate in such athletic events as volleyball, basketball, badminton, tennis, and wrestling. Mrs. Ron Whittaker directs the girls' activities in volleyball, basketball, tennis, badminton, and ping pong. Mr. Whittaker conducts a fast-paced program for men in volleyball, basketball, and wrestling. He also offers a program for students in tumbling and gymnastics. Also under his supervision are the ping pong and billiard tournaments. Throughout the school year, girls and boys teams compete in various sports, with tournaments being held at the end of each season. Intramural letter awards and trophies are awarded to the championship teams in each sport, and individual awards are also made to outstanding participants.

Intramurals promote sportsmanship and offer the student an opportunity to excel in areas outside the classroom.

Both Mary Catherine Jones and Judy Oldham are headed in the same direction but Mary Jones is determined to make two points, while Judy Oldham is just as determined to defend.

CHEERLEADERS

CHEERLEADER ENTHUSIASM BOLSTERS ATHLETES

1964-1965 cheerleading squad's activity laden season began in the fall and continued through March. With outstanding athletic achievements combined with the boistrous charm of the cheerleading squad, Lees-McRae rooters had plenty to cheer about. Enthusiasm proved instrumental in leading LMC's basketball team to a conference championship.

Max C. Chapman, President Lees-McRae College

One of the most unique responsibilities and greatest privileges of the staff of the 1965 ONTAROGA was to carefully examine the past, present, and as best it might the future, seeking a particular individual that has had or will have had a profound effect on the lives of Lees-McRae students.

We chose Mr. J. B. Pritchett for the dedication of the yearbook, and we feel that it is only fitting and proper at this time to acknowledge our President Colonel Max C. Chapman.

The ONTAROGA Staff is confident that Colonel Chapman will be able to lead this small liberal arts junior college to her potential position of influence in the Southeast. Through his tireless effort, Colonel Chapman has diligently provided guidance to young people faced with the problems of making far-reaching decisions which will affect them the remainder of their lives. He has been instrumental in making changes beneficial to the college and its students during the term he has served as President of Lees-McRae.

Colonel Max C. Chapman (USMC retired) assumed the duties of President of Lees-McRae College in August, 1961. Colonel Chapman, the winner of the Legion of Merit and Bronze Star Medals, came to Lees-McRae from Washington after he retired as assistant to the Director of Naval Intelligence for Marine Corps matters. Colonel Chapman, a graduate of Clemson College, also attended the Marine Corps Command and Staff School, the Armed Forces Staff College, and the British Imperial Defense College of London, England.

To the man and to the great challenge that lies before him, we offer this special recognition. He and Mrs. Chapman, the former Helen Trotman of Norfolk, Virginia, have given of their time and themselves unselfishly for the students of the college.

This is a small token of the staff's appreciation.

Special Recognition

Mrs. Chapman . . . . . and friend Fluffy.

Dean Lewis M. Hall

SPECIAL RECOGNITION

To Academic Dean LEWIS HALL for his fairness with dealing with each student as an individual and for showing unselfish interest in each one of us. We wish him the very best as he takes a leave of absence from Lees-McRae to further his education.

Dean Hall has been awarded a National Science Foundation Faculty Fellowship for next year in the field of mathematics and will study at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. Dean Hall has been a member of the Lees-McRae College faculty for ten years. He came to the college in 1954 as a math instructor and then in 1961 he was appointed Academic Dean of the College. Prior to his appointment as Academic Dean, he also coached baseball, girls' basketball and was an assistant coach in football.

He was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa at the College of William and Mary, where he received his B.S. Degree. He received his Masters Degree from East Tennessee State College. He is currently sponsor of the Phi Theta Kappa, the honorary organization on campus. He also co-sponsors The Order of the Tower, the leadership organization on campus.

In 1962 when the college yearbook the ONTAROGA, was dedicated to him the statement read "... a man who is well known on the Lees-McRae campus for his cheerful smile and kind words of encouragement ... a man who, as Academic Dean of the College, expects the students to live up to his high expectations ... who adds so much to the intellectual atmosphere of LMC ... a man who strives continually to improve the scholastic standards of the college ... He is more than the Academic Dean, more than a teacher, he is, above all, a friend."

However, the highest compliment that can be paid to Mr. Hall is the fact that the many students whom he has taught in the past ten years, that have gone on to such institutions of higher education as Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and the University of North Carolina State at Raleigh, consider him the best academic instructor in their four years of college work.

To our basketball coach, GEORGE LITTON. Coach Litton after suffering through a dismal football season directed the Lees-McRae College Bobcats to their first basketball conference championship in a decade. For his good natured cheerfulness ... his competence in the field of athletics ... we wish to acknowledge Mr. Litton for these assets that have made him a success as a coach.

To a team that held its head high in defeat as well as in victory ... these men never gave up and were tough competitors. They earned Lees-McRae its first championship in basketball since 1955. This team, that carried us into the finals of the Region 10 Championship, demonstrated sportsmanship, desire, and determination. Such super-stars as Harold Earnhardt, Jim McGowan, Bob Cox, Wayne Hall, Jerry Harr, and Dickie Liddle will surely be missed. As an old adage states, however, there will always be next year, and returning to the squad will be All-Conference Gary Chenevey and Randy Sills, Charlie Noe, Lynn Gardner, Walt McMillan, and Fritz Riebe. These Bobcats posted a 9-3 record for the Conference Championship and took second place in the WCJC Conference Tournament and second place in the Region 10 Tournament. This group of men, although they missed the bid for a trip to the national tournament in a 83-81 loss to Ferrum (Va.) College, were undaunted by their defeat. They set an example that every student at Lees-McRae should follow: to accept victory and defeat graciously.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The 1965 ONTAROGA staff has worked diligently for months by pounding typewriters, applying mathematical theories, snapping cameras, and writing captions in order to produce the yearbook. Just as any large task cannot be performed successfully by any one person, this publication could not have become a reality without the help of many interested people. It is to all these people that we, the ONTAROGA staff wish to express our sincere appreciation.

Without the help and guidance of our sponsor, Mr. Donald R. Baker, the publication of the book would have been impossible. In his preparation of the layout and design of the book and cover are shown his talents as well as many hours of hard work.

The considerate advice of Col. and Mrs. Chapman was also greatly appreciated. Through their helpful suggestions and loan of Sweet Briar College's annual, THE BRIAR PATCH, the ONTAROGA staff this year was able to present many new improvements and approaches in the recording of the year's events and accomplishments. By using THE BRIAR PATCH as our guideline, we have attempted to give the ONTAROGA a "new look."

The Student Body and Faculty's understanding and co-operation with meeting the demands of the ONTAROGA staff was appreciated.

We wish to especially thank our own members of the staff, Gail Presson, Janis Lydick, Charles Long, Kay Adams, Linda McCormick, Herman Underwood, Ed Solesbee, and Dennis McAbee who contributed many hours of hard work preparing the "memories" of the sophomore class and completing other numerous tasks. Our photographer, Andy Worth, deserves a special note of thanks for his continuous, superb work with pictures and his untiring efforts and co-operation in taking and, when necessary, retaking pictures.

We would like to express our appreciation to everyone who was involved in the preparation of this annual which, we hope, LMC students will be proud to possess.
